Chairman's Statement

Dear Shareholders,

It is my privilege to present to you the Annual Report for FY25—a year of meaningful progress in our mission to build a world-class, innovation-led defence and aerospace company rooted in indigenous capabilities and technological excellence.

Our vision has always been anchored in delivering high-technology electronic systems that cater to India's strategic needs. Over the past year, India's defence sector has undergone a structural shift, driven by a strong policy push for self-reliance, increased defence spending, and greater participation of the private sector. These developments are not merely cyclical; they represent a long-term transformation that positions Indian companies at the heart of the country's security and technological aspirations.

In this evolving landscape, Data Patterns has further consolidated its role as a credible and differentiated partner to the Indian armed forces. Our ability to seamlessly integrate design, development, manufacturing, testing, and lifecycle support under one roof continues to be a key differentiator. This end-to-end capability allows us to offer complete, mission-critical systems that create long-term value for our customers and stakeholders.

The year also brought renewed focus on regional security, particularly along India's western borders. This highlighted the critical need for advanced deterrence and rapid-response solutions. In this context, we are proud to have contributed to India's strategic defence capabilities through our involvement in the BrahMos missile program—a testament to the trust placed in our capabilities and our commitment to national security.

FY25: A Year of Execution and Growth

FY25 was marked by strong operational and financial execution. We reported healthy revenue growth, underpinned by improved delivery across key programs and the ramp-up of some of the new products for trials. These results reflect the strength of our long-term customer relationships and the increasing maturity of our product lines.

We remained sharply focused on profitability, capital discipline, and scalability. Our vertically integrated, full-stack delivery model continues to enhance cost efficiency, compress development cycles, and reduce external dependencies—especially critical in a sector that demands high reliability and rapid innovation.

We also made strategic investments to support future growth—enhancing our manufacturing capacity, deepening R&D capabilities, and onboarding specialised talent. This foundation, combined with our culture of innovation and agility, positions us strongly for the next phase of opportunity in India's defence electronics sector.

Looking Ahead: Positioned for Sustainable Growth

As we enter FY26, we do so with clarity and confidence. Our order book, stands at ₹730 crore as at the end of FY 2024-25, with promising traction across domestic and global opportunities. We see strong demand in areas such as Radars, Electronic Warfare, Avionics, Seekers, Fire Control Systems and Communication Systems. The government's intent to double defence procurement and its clear preference for high-complexity, indigenously designed solutions offers a strong runway for long-term growth.

We expect FY26 to be a year of continued momentum, with a targeted revenue growth of 20–25%, while maintaining EBITDA margins in the range of 35–40%. Our priorities include deepening customer engagements, scaling high-value product platforms, and unlocking operating leverage across our facilities.

Our Commitment

At Data Patterns, our mission transcends business. We are committed to advancing India's self-reliance in defence technology through innovation, excellence, and a deep sense of purpose. We remain committed to substantially invest in development of world class Airborne Radars, Electronic Warfare Suites, and Communication Systems which are expected to address Indian requirements and provide long term growth to your Company.

As we look ahead, our focus will remain steadfast—to scale with discipline, innovate with purpose, and lead with responsibility.

On behalf of the Board, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to our customers, employees, partners, and shareholders for their continued trust and support.

Warm regards,

Letter to Shareholders

Dear Shareholders.....

This annual letter to you all, as always gives me immense joy and a great sense of responsibility. It echoes our enthusiasm, purpose and commitment to creating shareholder value.

As we reflect on the past year and look forward to the future, I am pleased to share with you the guiding principles that continue to shape our journey: People, Purpose, and Process. These three pillars are not just the foundation of our company—they are the heartbeat of our progress, innovation, and long-term value creation. Our commitment to putting people and planet alongside profit is showcased in our efforts towards this cause and involving all our people to participate in activities involving service to the society through our various CSR activities, which I am personally very passionate about.

People First

Our people are our greatest asset. In a time of rapid transformation, their resilience, creativity, and dedication have been the driving force behind every success. We have invested significantly in employee development, wellbeing, and inclusion initiatives to build a workplace culture where everyone can thrive. Retaining top talent and nurturing future leaders remains a strategic priority. We are proud of the diverse, agile, and empowered teams who continue to raise the bar in everything we do.

We are equally committed to fostering a safe, healthy, and inclusive work environment for all our employees. Safety remains a top priority. Safety capabilities have been significantly strengthened through enhanced supervision, regular safety briefings, extensive training. We uphold the highest standards of workplace safety, ensuring that our people operate in an environment that supports their well-being, productivity, and peace of mind. This commitment reflects our belief that care begins within—with our people—and is foundational to everything we aspire to achieve.

Purpose Driven

At the core of our business lies a clear and unwavering purpose: "To Design and Manufacture Defence and Aerospace Systems for the world with integrity, precision, and purpose". This purpose informs our decisions, shapes our strategy, and inspires our people. It keeps us accountable not only to our financial performance but also to our social and environmental responsibilities. We believe that companies with strong purpose outperform in the long run—because they win trust, loyalty, and relevance.

Process Excellence

Purpose without process is aspiration without execution. Over the past year, we have streamlined operations, embraced innovation, and reinforced governance across all levels. Our focus on continuous improvement and data-driven decision-making has enhanced efficiency, risk management, and customer satisfaction. From product development to sustainability practices, robust processes are enabling us to scale responsibly and respond swiftly in a dynamic environment.

As we stride forward, I want to share how our focus on Equity, Diversity, and Stakeholder Value is shaping a more resilient, inclusive, and purpose-driven organization.

Equity: A Foundation of Fairness

Equity is at the core of our commitment to fairness and integrity. We are working to ensure that opportunities within our company are accessible to all—regardless of background, identity, or circumstance. This means closing gaps, dismantling barriers, and designing systems that promote equal access to career growth, compensation, and leadership. Equity is not just a moral imperative—it is a strategic one that strengthens our culture and performance.

Diversity: A Catalyst for Innovation

We believe that diversity fuels innovation, strengthens decision-making, and reflects the world we serve. Our teams are increasingly representative of different genders, ethnicities, experiences, and perspectives. We are fostering a culture where all voices are valued, collaboration is inclusive, and people feel empowered to bring their authentic selves to work. In today's dynamic business environment, diversity is more than a metric—it's a competitive advantage.

Stakeholder Value: Building for the Long Term

Our vision of success goes beyond quarterly results. We are deeply committed to creating value for all our stakeholders—employees, customers, communities, and you, our shareholders. This means integrating environmental, social, and governance (ESG) principles into our core strategy, investing in sustainable growth, and building trust through transparency and accountability. Long-term value creation requires alignment between profitability and positive impact.

At the heart of our journey lies a deep commitment to building a more inclusive, empowered, and compassionate society. This year, our CSR initiatives touched lives across a broad spectrum—supporting the elderly with dignity, nurturing children battling illness, enabling education for the underserved, and creating opportunities for individuals with special needs to thrive with independence. From revitalizing rural infrastructure and advancing healthcare access to promoting cultural heritage and fostering scientific curiosity among young minds, each initiative reflects our belief that sustainable business success must go hand in hand with social progress. Through these efforts, we strive not just to give back, but to actively shape a future where every individual has the opportunity to grow, contribute, and belong.

Together, People, Purpose, Process, Equity, Diversity, and Stakeholder value form the foundation of a company that not only performs—but matters. We remain focused on growth that is inclusive, value that is human-centred, and leadership that is responsible.

Thank you for your continued trust and partnership as we build a stronger and more equitable future together.

Management Discussion & Analysis

Global Economy

The global economy is at a critical juncture and becoming modestly more favorable since June 2024, following several years characterized by overlapping negative shocks. Inflation appears to be moderating without a substantial slowdown in key economies, and monetary policy easing has now become widespread. In the next couple of years, deceleration in the two main engines of the global economy—the United States and China—is expected to be offset by firming growth elsewhere, including in many emerging market and developing economies (EMDEs). In all, the post-pandemic global economic expansion is forecast to remain on a steady path. However, the global economy appears to be settling at a relatively low level of growth with the possibility of further headwinds from heightened geo political situation, policy uncertainty, growing trade fragmentation, slower than-anticipated progress in reducing inflation, and weaker activity in major economies.

Global trade growth rebounded last year, despite weak manufacturing activity in some key advanced economies. The recovery was driven by goods trade though services trade growth continued to moderate. In 2025-26, trade growth is set to pick up and the growth will largely depend on the outcome of tariff announcements and its effect on bilateral trades between nations in addition to the already existing geo political situations.

Global financial conditions have eased slightly, in aggregate, since mid-2024, mainly owing to the onset of monetary easing in the United States and generally robust risk appetite. For much of last year, improving investor sentiment translated into capital inflows and improving financial conditions in the emerging economies.

Against this backdrop, global growth is estimated to have stabilized at 2.7 percent last year and is forecast to hold steady at that pace over 2025-26. However, the IMF has revised the global economic growth rate from 3.3% in Jan 2025 to 2.8% for the current year mainly due to the uncertainty over the tariffs and trade which is expected to cast its shadow on the inflation also.

Indian Economy

Despite continued downside growth to the global economy, India is expected to maintain its position as a fastest growing economy. IMF in its April 2025 release of World Economic Outlook has stated that India is poised to lead the global economy once again and to remain the fastest growing major economy over the next two years. India's economy is expected to grow by 6.2 per cent in 2025 and 6.3 per cent in 2026, maintaining a solid lead over global and regional peers. This growth is possible given the Government push on infrastructure and other capital spent, moderate inflation and better liquidity leading to private spending. That said, the geo political situations and uncertainty over the tariff and trade policies casts a shadow on the expected growth. Despite this moderation, overall outlook for India remains strong signaling strong macroeconomic fundamentals and India's resilience to the complex global environment. Inflation also stayed moderated at around 4.6% in FY 2025, lowest since 2020 and lower than RBI's projection of 4.8%. Core inflation also stood below 4% mark in FY 2025.

On the monetary side, after staying unchanged since April 2023, RBI has started with its policy rate cuts in 2025 and has also been proactively taking efforts to ensure orderly liquidity.

Indian Defence Sector

With the Government's continuing aggressive push through Make in India initiatives, India is aiming to become a defence powerhouse. From being a major importer of its defence requirements, India is making all required initiative to transform itself to a leading defence manufacturer and exporter. This opens out substantial opportunities to the Companies engaged in Defence and Aerospace sector.

In pursuit of its self reliance in Defence, the Government has also been increasing its budget allocation to the sector year on year at a CAGR of 8.5% in the last 10 years. For FY 2025-26 the amount allocated is INR 6.81 Lakhs Crores (~US$ 78.57 billion) which is 13.44% of the total budget. Budget for Capital outlay is around Rs. 1.9 Lakhs Crores, an increase of 4.65% over the last year. An increased allocation has also been made for indigenous R & D. Though the budget allocation to defence is increasing in terms of value, its share in GDP is on the decline, from around 2.5% in 2021 to 1.9% for FY 2026.

Initiatives such as Make in India, Atmanirbhar Bharath, curbs on imports, establishment of Defence corridors, allowing 74% FDI through automatic route, etc have opened out large opportunities to Indian Companies in the Private Sector as well. A recent study suggests that the Private Defence Companies are expected to grow at around 25 to 35% outpacing major DPSUs which are expected to grow less than 20%.

India's Defence exports is also expected to move sharply upwards. Europe and NATO countries are expected to substantially increase their defence spending and a decent portion of such opportunities are expected to Indian Companies.

Weakness

- Data Patterns' business heavily relies on government contracts, making it vulnerable to fluctuations in government spending and regulatory changes.
- Despite favourable policy initiatives directed towards indigenization in Defence requirements, complex procurement processes make it difficult to predict the contract timelines.

- The nature of the defense industry often involves high upfront costs and long development cycles, which can result in longer working capital cycles and strain the company's financial resources also.
- Rapid advancements in technology could potentially render Data Patterns' existing products and solutions obsolete if not continuously innovated upon.

Opportunities

- Continued government initiatives to modernize defense systems and infrastructure present opportunities for Data Patterns to secure additional contracts and expand its market share.
- There's potential for the company to expand its presence in international markets by forming strategic alliances, joint ventures, or establishing subsidiaries in key regions.

Threats

- Changes in government regulations, export controls, or compliance requirements could impact the company's ability to operate and export its products.
- Dependence on international suppliers for critical electronic components exposes the company to risks associated with supply chain disruptions due to geopolitical situations, policy changes, or raw material shortages.

Our partnership focuses on providing critical support to two key centers in Chennai viz Mullaimanagar and Anna Nagar. At the Mullaimanagar Day Care Center, we have funded nutrition support and mid-day meals to ensure that senior citizens' dietary needs are met with dignity and care. At their Centre in Anna Nagar, we have funded the support which includes daily patient pick-up and drop services, along with nutritional support and lunch provision for the resident inmates, sustained over a period of one year.

Through this initiative, we aim to alleviate some of the daily challenges faced by the elderly—especially those living with dementia—and their caregivers. By addressing basic nutritional and mobility needs, we help promote health, independence, and a sense of belonging among these valued members of our community.

ii) Vidya Sagar:

Vidya Sagar is a non-profit organization based in Chennai, dedicated to working with children and young adults with multiple disabilities, regardless of the severity of their conditions.

Our company has made a contribution to Vidya Sagar's project focused on empowering adults with high support needs through skill development. Our contribution has been utilized for several key aspects of this project including ensuring the production units have the necessary materials and tools to create high-quality products, supporting the promotion and marketing efforts to help these products reach a wider audience and generate sustainable income, enhancing the welfare of students and staff involved in the project, contributing to a supportive and nurturing environment and funding the salaries of technical support staff who play a crucial role in the training and production processes.

This initiative has resulted in increased participation of adults with high support needs in meaningful vocational activities, improved their confidence and independence, and helped generate a sustainable source of income through the sale of handcrafted products. Additionally, the inclusive environment has positively influenced the overall well-being and skill development of the participants, while raising greater awareness and acceptance in the wider community.

iv) Sri Ranganatha Paduka Vidhyalaya Trust:

Sri Ranganatha Paduka Vidhyalaya Trust (SRPVT) founded in 1968 is engaged in the fields of education and empowerment in Srirangam, Tamil Nadu. It runs a full-fledged College and schools apart from a Ghosala. It is a regular autonomous college established in 1996 and affiliated to Bharathidasan University, where students are particularly from the marginalized and economically deprived section of the society situated in villages in and around 50 km radius.

Presently the college offers 15 Under Graduate Programs, 13 Post Graduate Programmes, 10 M.Phil. Programmes and Ph.D Programmes in 12 disciplines. Extension of subsidized fees, scholarships and providing free transport to students from the villages, is the prime reason that the students attend this College from where more than 90% of their total strength are enrolled.

Free transport serves as a strong motivator for students from rural areas to attend college regularly and complete their degrees, which become vital stepping stones towards gainful employment. This not only transforms their individual lives but also sets a positive precedent for future generations in their families and communities. Our contribution by supporting a portion of their transportation needs, plays a key role in reducing absenteeism and ensuring continuity in education. It empowers these students to pursue higher studies with dignity, fosters social mobility, and helps build a stronger, more educated rural youth base that can drive long-term community development.

v) Alumni Association of CEG batch 1990 :

Started in 2015 by a committed group of alumni from the College of Engineering, Guindy (CEG), this initiative has been dedicated to mentoring and sponsoring students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds who have secured admission to CEG—one of the most prestigious engineering institutions in the country. For many bright students, the inability to afford college fees stands as a barrier to a well-deserved future. Recognizing the life-changing power of education, Data Patterns partnered with this initiative to help bridge that gap.

In the latest phase of support, we provided financial aid to 22 deserving students who were recently admitted to CEG. This included payment of college and hostel fees for 10 students and provision of laptops to 12 students. These essential resources are not just tools—they are lifelines that enable these students to keep pace with academic demands, access digital learning, and fully participate in a modern engineering education.

These students are now fully equipped to pursue their engineering degrees without financial stress. They can focus on their education, explore opportunities, and dream bigger. This intervention has not only helped preserve their academic journey but also opened doors to a future of economic upliftment—for themselves and their families. With access to college, a place to live, and the digital tools to learn, their horizons have expanded—bringing within reach incredible career prospects in India and beyond. What once seemed impossible is now within grasp, because someone believed in their potential.

In continuation of our commitment to social responsibility and community development, the company has successfully completed the infrastructure enhancement project initiated in the previous year. The funds previously allocated to the Unspent CSR Account, in accordance with the Companies Act, 2013, have been fully utilized during the current financial year. The project, implemented in association with the Rotary Club of Madras, involved the renovation of the existing school building and the construction of a new classroom, with additional funding provided this year to meet project needs.

The completed infrastructure improvements have created a more comfortable and supportive learning environment, fostering academic growth and holistic development among students. The expanded facilities also enable the school to accommodate more students and better serve the educational aspirations of the local community. This initiative stands as a testament to our sustained efforts toward educational equity and long-term community empowerment.

In 2016, CANKIDS launched the “Change for Childhood Cancer” initiative in the region, which has saved hundreds of children by ensuring access to timely and quality cancer care.

This year, our contribution was directed toward supporting staff salaries and key operational costs, which played a vital role in enabling the delivery of uninterrupted care to young patients. Through this support, 25 newly diagnosed children and 10 existing pediatric cancer patients—all under the age of 19—were able to undergo essential diagnostic tests, surgeries, follow-up procedures, and receive necessary medications.

By funding the backbone of service delivery—skilled personnel and operational infrastructure—we helped ensure that CANKIDS could continue providing holistic care to children battling cancer. The impact of this initiative is evident in the improved treatment outcomes and increased life expectancy of the beneficiaries. Our involvement has helped sustain a critical support system that gives children and their families hope, resilience, and a fighting chance at a healthier future.

The Trust provides comprehensive educational, therapeutic, and vocational services, empowering children and young adults to lead more fulfilling, independent, and dignified lives.

As part of its innovative approach to skill-building, V-Excel conducted an Experiential Learning Program for young adults with special needs, designed to build independence and real-world competence. The program included a first-time metro travel experience, where students were taught how to navigate the metro system—understanding tickets, routes, and public behavior. Additionally, the program featured an overnight field trip, focusing on essential life skills such as packing, managing personal belongings, time management, social interaction, and basic self-care in a setting away from home.

The Experiential Learning Program made a significant impact on the participating students. By stepping into unfamiliar environments, they gained practical exposure, confidence, and a sense of autonomy. Tasks that once seemed daunting became manageable, reinforcing their ability to function independently in society. xi) Jayam Special School run by Jayam Trust:

Founded in 2011 with just two children in a small home at Padi, Jayam Special School has grown to support 180 children with Autism, ADHD, Intellectual Disabilities, Slow Learning, and Specific Learning Disabilities. The school is committed to providing specialized education and therapeutic rehabilitation services to children who otherwise may not have access to such opportunities.

This year, we supported Jayam Special School by contributing towards a portion of their operational expenses. This funding has allowed the school to continue offering high-quality, specialized education and therapy. It also helped sustain the efforts of dedicated educators, therapists, and support staff who provide the personalized care essential for each child's development. In addition, vocational training was extended to parents and caregivers, helping them gain skills for self-sufficiency and reducing their emotional and financial burdens.

As a result of our support, Jayam Special School has been able to maintain a nurturing and joyful environment where every child feels safe, valued, and empowered. The school has been able to continue its crucial work without interruption, providing these children with the opportunity to grow, learn, and live with dignity. Our contribution has made a meaningful difference, allowing Jayam to focus on their mission of empowering futures.

xii) TIARA Haemophilia and cancer Foundation:

Tiara Haemophilia and cancer Foundation, established in 2012, has remained steadfast in its mission to improve healthcare access for children from underprivileged families. Guided by the belief in health equity for all, Tiara has positively impacted the lives of over 1,000 families over the past 13 years by facilitating treatment for life-threatening conditions such as haemophilia and cancer through partnerships with leading hospitals across the country.

This year, the contribution made by our company was instrumental in supporting the treatment of 22 children diagnosed with haemophilia, all from low-income families who were largely unaware of the disease and its implications. Tiara intervened early, ensuring timely diagnostic tests at concessional rates, coordinating with hospitals for specialized treatment, and sourcing essential medicines directly from pharmaceutical companies to significantly reduce the financial burden on families.

As a result of this collaborative effort, these children received care from some of the best consultants in the field. Beyond just medical treatment, the initiative has empowered families with awareness and access, enabling the children to lead healthier, more stable lives. Our involvement has made a tangible difference in their future, offering hope, dignity, and a better quality of life.

xiii) Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research :

The National Service Scheme (NSS) wing of Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research, active since 1985, is committed to implement impactful community projects focused on healthcare, sanitation, and environmental protection. Through its sustained efforts, the NSS wing addresses critical societal needs while promoting holistic well-being across adopted communities.

The NSS wing identified the need for a dedicated recreational space for children in Ayalcheri village, Soranjeri Panchayat, one of its adopted villages. With our support, the project involved the construction of a play area equipped with safe and engaging play equipment, designed to benefit approximately 600 children in the village and surrounding areas.

The newly constructed play area has significantly enhanced the quality of life for the children in Ayalcheri village by providing them with a safe and stimulating environment for play and social interaction. This initiative not only supports the physical and mental well-being of the children but also fosters community bonding and promotes a sense of inclusiveness. The space has become a hub of activity and joy, reflecting the positive impact of targeted community investment. Our contribution has helped transform a basic need into a meaningful resource for hundreds of young lives.

xiv) Madhuram Narayanan Centre – Bala Mandir, Chennai:

In existence since 1989, this centre became a part of Bala Mandir six years ago and has since evolved into a crucial support system for children with developmental delays, intellectual disabilities, and associated conditions such as Cerebral Palsy, Down Syndrome, Autism Spectrum Disorder, and ADHD. Currently, the centre supports around 150 children, providing them with the care, therapy, and encouragement needed to progress and thrive.

As part of our commitment to inclusive and holistic development, we funded the salaries of therapists working at the centre. These professionals—including physiotherapists, occupational therapists, speech therapists, and special educators—play an essential role in delivering tailored interventions that help each child achieve developmental milestones and improve their quality of life.

With the therapists' positions sustained through our support, the centre has been able to provide uninterrupted, high-quality therapeutic care to the children. These services have made a tangible difference in enhancing the children's mobility, communication, cognitive abilities, and social interaction. For many families, the centre offers a lifeline—delivering expert care that they would otherwise be unable to access or afford. This funding has helped not just maintain but strengthen the continuum of care, enabling every child to move closer to their full potential with dignity and hope.

xv) Jeevan India Missions:

Incorporated in 2003, the organization works closely with local youth, focusing on rural development through initiatives in education, healthcare, and skill development. These efforts are further supported by various allied activities aimed at improving the overall quality of life in underserved areas.

As part of its commitment to rural infrastructure and environmental sustainability, the Company funded a pond cleaning and desilting project in Rettakudi Village, Nannilam Panchayat, Tamilnadu. The pond, a crucial water body for the local ecosystem, had become silted over time, limiting its capacity to manage rainwater effectively.

The restoration of the pond significantly improved its ability to receive and channel excess rainwater from 75–100 acres of adjoining farmland. This intervention reduced the risk of waterlogging and improved groundwater recharge, directly and indirectly benefiting an estimated 25,000 people in the surrounding community.

xvi) Vijnana Bharathi Educational Charitable Society:

Founded in 1999, the organization is dedicated to imparting integrated education and serving society through its core pillars of Sevana (Service), Sakthikarana (Empowerment), and Samrakshana (Protection). Over the years, it has positively impacted the lives of more than 20,000 individuals, both women and men, through its short-term and long-term programs. These programs aim to transform lives affected by damaging lifestyles, alcoholism, and extremist ideologies by offering a combination of formal education, Yoga Vidya, counseling, and rehabilitation services.

The funded project supports the construction of a residential training facility in Balaramapuram, located on the outskirts of Thiruvananthapuram. The building is intended to accommodate students undergoing in-house training, providing a safe and supportive environment for holistic development and rehabilitation.

Once completed, the facility will expand the organization's capacity to deliver immersive, in-residence programs, enabling deeper engagement with beneficiaries. It is expected to enhance the reach and effectiveness of their transformative education and rehabilitation efforts, fostering self-reliance and societal reintegration for more individuals in need.

xvii) Employee-Initiated Programme:

As part of its CSR initiative, the company allocates a specific budget to support NGOs recommended by employees. The company encourages top-performing employees, based on various criteria, to nominate NGOs that they believe should receive funding under the CSR initiative.

In the current year, the company has supported 4 NGOs through this program, empowering employees to actively participate in the company's community outreach efforts and fostering social responsibility within the workforce.

xviii) Skill Development:

The Company provides Skill development training to apprentices under National Apprentice Scheme in line with Apprentice Act, 1961. Ministry of Corporate Affairs vide office memorandum dated 12/2/2016, has permitted to utilize the CSR funds for the Apprenticeship training which includes expenditure on basic training and stipend paid to apprentices. During the financial year, the Company has spent an amount of Rs.2.00 Cr. on the above training. Out of the said amount, the Company has considered an amount of Rs.1.00 Cr under CSR expenses.

xix) Govt High School, Kandigai:

A recently upgraded government school in Chennai, with around 900 students and 30 teachers, continues to face significant infrastructure challenges due to the lack of grant funding. The school urgently requires support for refurbishing classrooms, repairing toilets, rebuilding the compound wall, and procuring educational equipment. Additionally, there is a need to support teacher salaries to maintain quality education delivery.

The funded initiative aims to construct a new classroom, designed as a mini hall, to ease overcrowding and provide better learning space for students. This project is supported by the Rotary Club of Taramani, along with the Rotary Club of India.

The project evaluation began in October 2024, and approval from the Government was received after the end of the financial year. Due to the nature of the project as an infrastructure initiative, it is expected to be completed in the next financial year, making it as an ongoing project. The amount allocated for this initiative has been transferred to the Unspent CSR Account of the company, in accordance with the Companies Act of 2013, and will be utilized within the statutory timelines.

The upgraded facilities are expected to offer students a more comfortable and conducive learning environment, helping improve academic engagement and student morale. This infrastructure project marks a significant step toward addressing the needs of under-resourced schools, benefiting both students and teachers alike.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

- The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Board of Director's report, but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.
- Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.
- In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements, or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.
- If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Board of Directors for the Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance including other comprehensive income, cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including Ind AS specified under section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management and Board of Directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Company's Board of Directors is also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibility for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial controls relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the Company to express an opinion on the financial statements.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal financial controls that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements of the Company based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to financial statements

A company's internal financial control with reference to financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control with reference to financial statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with reference to financial statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control with reference to financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements and such internal financial controls with reference to financial statements were operating effectively as at 31 March 2025, based on the criteria for internal financial control with reference to financial statements established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

All assets and liabilities have been classified as current or non-current as per the Company's normal operating cycle and other criteria set out in Schedule III to the Act. For the business of manufacturing, based on the nature of products and the time between the acquisition of assets for processing and their realization in cash and cash equivalents, the Company has ascertained its operating cycle up to twelve months for the purpose of current – non-current classification of assets and liabilities. Operating cycle for the other business activities of the Company covers the duration of the specific project or contract or service and extends up to the realisation of receivables within the agreed credit period normally applicable to such lines of business.

Accounting policies have been consistently applied except where a newly issued accounting standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing accounting standard requires a change in the accounting policy hitherto in use.

Certain comparative figures have been reclassified, wherever necessary, to conform to the presentation adopted in the financial statements. These reclassifications were not significant and have no impact on the total assets, total liabilities, total equity and profit of the Company.

2.2 Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees which is also the Company's functional currency. All amounts have been rounded off to the nearest Crore, except share data and as otherwise stated.

2.3 Critical accounting estimates, assumptions and judgements

The preparation of the financial statements, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, requires management to make estimates, assumptions and judgements that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures as at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expense for the periods reported

The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates considering different assumptions and conditions

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimates are revised and future periods are affected. The estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying values of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are discussed below

i) Deferred income tax assets and liabilities

Significant management judgment is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and the level of future taxable profits. The amount of total deferred tax assets could change if management estimates of projected future taxable income or if tax regulations undergo a change.

ii) Useful lives of Property, Plant and Equipment ('PPE') and intangible assets

Property, plant and equipment/Intangible assets are depreciated/amortised over their estimated useful life, after taking into account estimated residual value. Management reviews the estimated useful life and residual values of the assets annually in order to determine the amount of depreciation/ amortisation to be recorded during any reporting period. The useful life and residual values are based on the Company's historical experience with similar assets and take into account anticipated technological changes, expected level of usage and product life-cycle. The depreciation/amortisation for future periods is revised if there are significant changes from previous estimates.

iii) Employee benefit obligations

Employee benefit obligations are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments. These include the estimation of the appropriate discount rate, future salary increases and mortality rates. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, the employee benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date.

iv) Provisions and contingencies

From time to time, the Company is subject to legal proceedings, the ultimate outcome of each being subject to uncertainties inherent in litigation. A provision for litigation is made when it is considered probable that a payment will be made and the amount can be reasonably estimated. Significant judgement is required when evaluating the provision including, the probability of an unfavourable outcome and the ability to make a reasonable estimate of the amount of potential loss. Litigation provisions are reviewed at each accounting period and revisions made for the changes in facts and circumstances. Contingent liabilities are disclosed in the notes forming part of the financial statements. Contingent assets are not disclosed in the financial statements unless an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

v) Recognition of Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE), Capital work in progress and Intangible asset

Significant level of judgement is involved in assessing whether the expenditure incurred meets the recognition criteria under Ind AS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment. Also estimates are involved in determining the cost attributable to bringing the assets to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by the management.

vi) Capitalisation of internally developed intangible assets

Distinguishing the research and development phases of a new customised project and determining whether the recognition requirements for the capitalisation of development costs are met requires judgement. After capitalisation, management monitors whether the recognition requirements continue to be met and whether there is any indicators that capitalised costs may be impaired.

vii) Evaluation of indicators for impairment of assets

The evaluation of applicability of indicators of impairment of assets requires assessment of several external and internal factors which could result in deterioration of recoverable amount of the assets. In assessing impairment, management estimates the recoverable amount of each asset or cash generating units based on expected future cash flows and uses an interest rate to discount them. Estimation uncertainty relates to assumptions about future operating results and the determination of a suitable discount rate.

2.4 Revenue from contracts with customers

To determine whether to recognise revenue from contracts with customers, the Company follows a 5-step process:

- a) Identifying the contract with customer
- b) Identifying the performance obligations
- c) Determining the transaction price
- d) Allocating the transaction price to the performance obligations
- e) Recognising revenue when/as performance obligation(s) are satisfied.

Revenue from contracts with customers for products sold and service provided is recognised when control of promised products or services are transferred to the customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. Revenue is measured based on the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in a contract with a customer and excludes Goods and Services Taxes and is net of rebates and discounts. No element of financing is deemed present as the sales are made with a credit term, which is consistent with market practice. A receivable is recognised when the goods are delivered as this is the point in time that the consideration is unconditional because only the passage of time is required before the payment is due.

For performance obligation satisfied over time, the revenue recognition is done by measuring the progress towards complete satisfaction of performance obligation. The progress is measured in terms of a proportion of actual cost incurred to-date, to the total estimated cost attributable to the performance obligation except where this would not be representative of the stage of completion. The Company transfers control of a good or service over time and therefore satisfies a performance obligation and recognises revenue over a period of time if one of the following criteria is met:

- i) the customer simultaneously consumes the benefit of Company's performance or
- ii) the customer controls the asset as it is being created/enhanced by the Company's performance or
- iii) there is no alternative use of the asset and the Company has either explicit or implicit right of payment considering legal precedents.

In all other cases, performance obligation is considered as satisfied at a point in time

Significant judgments are used in determining the revenue to be recognised in case of performance obligation satisfied over a period of time, revenue recognition is done by measuring the progress towards complete satisfaction of performance obligation.

These activity-specific revenue recognition criteria are based on the goods or services provided to the customer and the contract conditions in each case, and are as described below.

a) Sale of manufactured goods

Revenue from sale of manufactured goods is recognised at a point of time when control of the product is transferred to the customer, being when the products are delivered and acknowledged by customers and the Company has not retained any significant risks of ownership or there is no unfulfilled obligation that could affect the customer's acceptance of the product. Revenue from the sale is recognised based on the price specified in the contract, net of rebates and discounts.

b) Sale of Services

The company recognizes revenue when performance obligation as promised is satisfied with a transaction price and where there is no uncertainty as to the measurement or collectability of the consideration. Revenue from sale of services is recognized over a period of time for maintenance revenue when the related obligations are fulfilled and revenue from other services are recognised at a point in time.

2.5 Recognition of Dividend Income, Interest income or expense

Dividend income is recognised when the unconditional right to receive the income is established. Interest income or expense is recognised using the effective interest method

The 'effective interest rate' is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash payments or receipts through the expected life of the financial instrument to:

- the gross carrying amount of the financial asset; or
- the amortised cost of the financial liability.

In calculating interest income and expense, the effective interest rate is applied to the gross carrying amount of the asset (when the asset is not credit-impaired) or to the amortised cost of the liability. However, for financial assets that have become credit-impaired subsequent to initial recognition, interest income is calculated by applying the effective interest rate to the amortised cost of the financial asset. If the asset is no longer credit-impaired, then the calculation of interest income reverts to the gross basis.

2.6 Property, plant and equipment and intangible assets

i) Plant and equipment

Plant and other equipment (comprising plant and machinery, furniture and fittings, electrical equipment, office equipment, computers and vehicles) are initially recognised at acquisition cost, including any costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to the location and condition necessary for them to be capable of operating in the manner intended by the management. Plant and other equipment are subsequently measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment losses.

Parts of an item of PPE having different useful lives and significant value and subsequent expenditure on Property, Plant and Equipment arising on account of capital improvement or other factors are accounted for as separate components only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of any component accounted for as a separate asset is derecognised when replaced. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the reporting period in which they are incurred.

Gains or losses arising on the disposal of property, plant and equipment are determined as the difference between the disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the assets and are recognised in the statement of profit and loss within other income or other expenses.

Property, plant and equipment are carried at the cost of acquisition or construction less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment, if any. The cost of property, plant and equipment includes non-refundable taxes, duties, freight, professional fees, for qualifying assets, borrowing costs capitalised in accordance with the Company's accounting policy based on Ind AS 23 – Borrowing costs and other incidental expenses related to the acquisition and installation of the respective assets. Property, plant and equipment which are retired from active use and are held for disposal are stated at the lower of their net book value or net realizable value.

Advances paid towards the acquisition of property, plant and equipment outstanding at each balance sheet date is classified as capital advances under other non-current assets and the cost of assets not put to use before such date are disclosed under 'Capital work-in-progress'. Subsequent expenditures relating to property, plant and equipment is capitalised only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with these will flow to the company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

ii) a) Intangible assets

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured at cost of acquisition. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment losses, if any. The amortization of an intangible asset with a finite useful life reflects the manner in which the economic benefit is expected to be generated.

b) Intangible asset under development

Leveraging the Company's existing competencies, the Company develops complete systems based on the business potential and increases Total Addressable Market (TAM) for the Company. Such product development initiatives are voluntarily undertaken by the Company and not against Tender/Contract and will thus generate Intangible Assets. Therefore, the Company capitalizes such product development initiatives as "Intangible Assets Under Development". Development cost consists of the following - Resources cost – Manpower and Resources cost – Facility. When the development is completed and the prototype is ready for its intended use, the same will be transferred to Intangible Assets and will be subjected to amortization.

Expenditure on research activities is recognised in profit or loss as incurred. Development expenditure is capitalised only if the expenditure can be measured reliably, the product or process is technically and commercially feasible, future economic benefits are probable and the Company intends to and has sufficient resources to complete development and to use or sell the asset. Otherwise, it is recognised in profit or loss as incurred. Subsequent to initial recognition, development expenditure is measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses. Gains or losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss when the asset is derecognised.

The residual values, useful lives and methods of amortization of intangible assets are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate

iii) Depreciation and amortisation

Depreciation on property, plant and equipment is provided on straight line method and in the manner prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, over its useful life specified in the Act, or based on the useful life of the assets as estimated by Management based on technical evaluation and advice. The residual value is generally assessed as 5% of the acquisition cost which is considered to be the amount recoverable at the end of the asset's useful life. The residual values, useful lives and method of depreciation of property, plant and equipment is reviewed at each financial year end.

Intangible assets are amortised on a straight line basis over the estimated useful economic life.

Prototype assets developed will be amortized over a period of 10 years from the date of capitalization or over the delivery period of the contract, if any, whichever is earlier.

The Company has evaluated the applicability of component accounting as prescribed under Ind AS 16 and Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, the management has not identified any significant component having different useful lives. Schedule II requires the Company to identify and depreciate significant components with different useful lives separately. The useful lives of the assets are in line with the useful lives as prescribed under Part C of Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013 and hence doesn't require Component Accounting.

The estimated useful life of the property, plant and equipment and intangible assets is as under,

- Building (30 years)
- Plant and Machinery (15 years)
- Computer (3-6 years)
- Furniture and Fixtures (10 years)
- Vehicles (8 years)
- Software (6 years)

iv) Impairment testing of intangible assets and property, plant and equipment

At each reporting date, the Company assesses whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired, based on internal or external factors. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset or the cash generating unit.

For the purpose of impairment assessment, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are largely independent cash inflows (cash-generating units). As a result, some assets are tested individually for impairment and some are tested at cash-generating unit level.

All individual assets or cash-generating units are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable.

An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's (or cash-generating unit's) carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount, which is the higher of fair value less costs of disposal and value-in-use. To determine the value-in-use, management estimates expected future cash flows from each cash-generating unit and determines a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows. The data used for impairment testing procedures are directly linked to the Company's latest approved budget, adjusted as necessary to exclude the effects of future reorganizations and asset enhancements. Discount factors are determined individually for each cash-generating unit and reflect current market assessments of the time value of money and asset-specific risk factors.

Impairment losses for cash-generating units reduce first the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to that cash generating unit. Any remaining impairment loss is charged pro rata to the other assets in the cash-generating unit. With the exception of goodwill, all assets are subsequently reassessed for indications that an impairment loss previously recognised may no longer exist. An impairment loss is reversed if the asset's or cash-generating unit's recoverable amount exceeds its carrying amount.

Intangible assets that have an indefinite useful life, not subject to amortisation and Intangible assets under development are tested annually for impairment, or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that they might be impaired. Other assets are tested for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable.

2.7 Non Current assets held for sale

The company classifies an item of PPE as a non current asset held for sale if its carrying amount will be recovered principally through a sale transaction rather than through continuing use. Non current assets held for sale are measured at their carrying value / fair value less cost to be incurred for its disposal. An item of non current asset held for sale is not subject to any depreciation during the period it is held for sale.

2.8 Leases

Company as a lessee

The Company evaluates each contract or arrangement, whether it qualifies as lease as defined under Ind AS 116.

The Company determines the lease term as the noncancellable period of a lease, together with periods covered by an option to extend the lease, where the Company is reasonably certain to exercise that option.

The Company at the commencement of the lease contract recognizes a Right-of-Use (ROU) asset at cost and corresponding lease liability, except for leases with term of less than twelve months (short term leases) and low-value assets. For these short term and low value leases, the Company recognizes the lease payments as an operating expense on a straight line basis over the lease term. The cost of the right-of-use asset comprises the amount of the initial measurement of the lease liability, any lease payments made at or before the inception date of the lease, plus any initial direct costs, less any lease incentives received. Subsequently, the right-of-use assets are measured at cost less any accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any

The right-of-use assets are depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date over the shorter of lease term or useful life of right-of-use asset. The estimated useful life of right-of-use assets are determined on the same basis as those of property, plant and equipment.

The Company applies Ind AS 36 to determine whether an RoU asset is impaired and accounts for any identified impairment loss as described in the impairment of non-financial assets below.

For lease liabilities at the commencement of the lease, the Company measures the lease liability at the present value of the lease payments that are not paid at that date. The lease payments are discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease, if that rate can be readily determined. If that rate is not readily determined, the lease payments are discounted using the incremental borrowing rate that the Company would have to pay to borrow funds, including the consideration of factors such as the nature of the asset and location, collateral, market terms and conditions, as applicable in a similar economic environment.

After the commencement date, the amount of lease liabilities is increased to reflect the accretion of interest and reduced for the lease payments made.

The Company recognizes the amount of the remeasurement of lease liability as an adjustment to the right-of-use assets. Where the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset is reduced to zero and there is a further reduction in the measurement of the lease liability, the Company recognizes any remaining amount of the remeasurement in statement of profit and loss.

Lease liability payments are classified as cash used in financing activities in the statement of cash flows.

2.9 Inventories

i) Raw materials

Raw materials are valued at lower of cost and net realisable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost is determined on a specific identification method

ii) Work in progress and finished goods

Work in progress and finished goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes the combined cost of material, labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. Cost is determined on a specific identification method.

The cost comprises of costs of purchase, duties and taxes (other than those subsequently recoverable), conversion cost and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less estimated cost of completion and applicable selling expenses.

2.10 Post-employment benefits and short-term employee benefits

a) Defined contribution plan

Contribution to Provident Fund in India are in the nature of defined contribution plan and are made to a recognised fund. Contribution to Superannuation Fund is in the nature of defined contribution plan and is remitted to insurance company in accordance with the scheme framed by the Corporation. The Company has no legal or constructive obligations to pay contributions in addition to its fixed contributions, which are recognised as an expense in the period that related employee services are received.

i) Provident fund

The Company makes contribution to the statutory provident fund in accordance with Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952, which is a defined contribution plan, and contribution paid or payable is recognised as an expense in the period in which it falls due.

ii) Other funds

The Company's contribution towards defined contribution plan is accrued in compliance with the requirement of the domestic laws of the country. Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are charged as an expense as they fall due.

b) Defined benefit Plan

Under the Company's defined benefit plans, the amount of benefit that an employee will receive on retirement is defined by reference to the employee's length of service and final salary.

The defined benefit plans are as below:

1) Gratuity

The liability recognised in the statement of financial position for defined benefit plans is the present value of the defined benefit obligation (DBO) at the reporting date less the fair value of plan assets. The Company estimates the DBO annually with the assistance of independent actuaries. This is based on standard rates of inflation, salary growth rate and mortality. Discount factors are determined close to each year-end by reference to government securities that are denominated in the currency in which the benefits will be paid and that have terms to maturity approximating the terms of the related gratuity liability.

Service cost on the Company's defined benefit plan is included in employee benefits expense. Actuarial gains and losses resulting from measurements of the net defined benefit liability are included in other comprehensive income.

ii) Leave salary - compensated absences

The Company also extends defined benefit plans in the form of compensated absences to employees. Provision for compensated absences is made on actuarial valuation basis. Entitlement to privilege leave is recognised when it accrues to the employees. Privilege leave can be accumulated subject to restriction as mentioned in the leave policy.

2.11 Borrowing cost

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalized during the period of time that is necessary to complete and prepare the asset for its intended use or sale. Other borrowing costs are expensed in the period in which they are incurred and reported in finance costs.

2.12 Earnings per equity share

Basic earnings per equity share is calculated by dividing the total profit for the period attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting attributable taxes) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. The weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events including a bonus issue, bonus element in a rights issue to existing shareholders, share split and reverse share split (consolidation of shares). In this scenario, the number of equity shares outstanding increases without an increase in resources due to which the number of equity shares outstanding before the event is adjusted for the proportionate change in the number of equity shares outstanding as if the event had occurred at the beginning of the earliest period reported.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

2.13 Income tax

Income tax comprises current and deferred tax. Income tax expense is recognized in the statement of profit and loss except to the extent it relates to a business combination, or items directly recognized in equity or in other comprehensive income.

i) Current income tax

Current income tax for the current and prior periods are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities based on the taxable income for the period. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the current tax amounts are those that are enacted or substantively enacted as at the reporting date and applicable for the period. While determining the tax provisions, the Company assesses whether each uncertain tax position is to be considered separately or together with one or more uncertain tax positions depending the nature and circumstances of each uncertain tax position.

The Company offsets current tax assets and current tax liabilities, where it has a legally enforceable right to set off the recognized amounts and where it intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and liability simultaneously.

ii) Deferred income tax

Deferred income tax is recognized using the balance sheet approach. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for deductible and taxable temporary differences arising between the tax base of assets and liabilities and their carrying amount in financial statements, except when the deferred income tax arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and affects neither accounting nor taxable profits or loss at the time of the transaction.

Deferred income tax assets are recognized to the extent it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized.

Deferred income tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences except in respect of taxable temporary differences that is expected to reverse within the tax holiday period.

The carrying amount of deferred income tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred income tax asset to be utilized.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

The Company offsets deferred income tax assets and liabilities, where it has a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities, and they relate to taxes levied by the same taxation authority on either the same taxable entity, or on different taxable entities where there is an intention to settle the current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis or their tax assets and liabilities will be realized simultaneously.

2.14 Contingent liabilities and provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event and it is probable that an outflow of economic resources will be required from the Company and amounts can be estimated reliably. Timing or amount of the outflow may still be uncertain.

Provisions are measured at the estimated expenditure required to settle the present obligation, based on the most reliable evidence available at the reporting date, including the risks and uncertainties associated with the present obligation. Where there are a number of similar obligations, the likelihood that an outflow will be required in settlement is determined by considering the class of obligations as a whole. Provisions are discounted to their present values, where the time value of money is material.

No liability is recognised if an outflow of economic resources as a result of present obligations is not probable. Such situations are disclosed as contingent liabilities if the outflow of resources is remote.

The Company does not recognise contingent assets unless the realization of the income is virtually certain, however these are assessed continually to ensure that the developments are appropriately disclosed in the financial statements.

2.15 Cash flow statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit / (loss) before exceptional items and tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of non-cash nature and any deferrals or accruals of past or future receipts or payments. In the cash flow statement, cash and cash equivalents includes cash in hand, cheques on hand, balances with banks in current accounts and other short-term highly liquid investments with original maturities of 3 months or less, as applicable.

2.16 Segment reporting

In accordance with Ind AS 108, Operating Segments, the Company has identified manufacture and sale of electronic boards and systems and related annual maintenance services for defence sector. As per Ind AS 108 Operating Segments, the Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) evaluates the Company performance and allocates resources based on an analysis of various performance indicators by business segments. Accordingly, the Company has identified only one segment as primary reportable segment for the year ended 31 March, 2025 and 31 March, 2024.

2.17 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity. Financial assets other than equity instruments are classified into categories: financial assets at fair value through profit or loss and at amortised cost. Financial assets that are equity instruments are classified at fair value through profit or loss or fair value through other comprehensive income. Financial liabilities are classified into financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss or amortised cost.

Financial instruments are recognised on the balance sheet when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

Initially, a financial instrument is recognised at its fair value except for trade receivable. Trade receivables that do not contain a significant financing component are measured at transaction price. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial instruments are recognised in determining the carrying amount, if it is not classified at fair value through profit or loss. Subsequently, financial instruments are measured according to the category in which they are classified.

Classification and subsequent measurement of financial assets

For the purpose of subsequent measurement financial assets are classified and measured based on the entity's business model for managing the financial asset and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial asset at:

- a) Amortised cost
- b) Fair value through profit and loss
- c) Fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI)

All financial assets are reviewed for impairment at least at each reporting date to identify whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. Different criteria to determine impairment are applied for each category of financial assets, which are described below.

a) Financial asset at amortised cost

Includes assets that are held within a business model where the objective is to hold the financial assets to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms gives rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

These assets are measured subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method. The loss allowance at each reporting period is evaluated based on the expected credit losses for next 12 months and credit risk exposure. The Company shall also measure the loss allowance for a financial instrument at an amount equal to the lifetime expected credit losses if the credit risk on that financial instrument has increased significantly since initial recognition.

b) Financial asset at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL)

Financial assets at FVTPL include financial assets that are designated at FVTPL upon initial recognition and financial assets that are not measured at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income. All derivative financial instruments fall into this category, except for those designated and effective as hedging instruments, for which the hedge accounting requirements apply. Assets in this category are measured at fair value with gains or losses recognised in profit or loss. The fair value of financial assets in this category are determined by reference to active market transactions or using a valuation technique where no active market exists.

The loss allowance at each reporting period is evaluated based on the expected credit losses for next 12 months and credit risk exposure. The Company shall also measure the loss allowance for a financial instrument at an amount equal to the lifetime expected credit losses if the credit risk on that financial instrument has increased significantly since initial recognition. The loss allowance shall be recognised in profit and loss.

c) Financial asset at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI)

Includes assets that are held within a business model where the objective is both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets along with the contractual terms giving rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. At initial recognition, the Company, based on its assessment, makes an irrevocable election to present in other comprehensive income the changes in the fair value of an investment in an equity instrument that is not held for trading. These selections are made on an instrument-by-instrument (i.e., share-by-share) basis. If the Company decides to classify an equity instrument as at FVOCI, then all fair value changes on the instrument, excluding dividends, impairment gains or losses and foreign exchange gains and losses, are recognised in other comprehensive income. There is no recycling of the amounts from OCI to profit or loss, even on sale of investment. The dividends from such instruments are recognised in statement of profit and loss.

The fair value of financial assets in this category are determined by reference to active market transactions or using a valuation technique where no active market exists.

The loss allowance at each reporting period is evaluated based on the expected credit losses for next 12 months and credit risk exposure. The Company shall also measure the loss allowance for a financial instrument at an amount equal to the lifetime expected credit losses if the credit risk on that financial instrument has increased significantly since initial recognition. The loss allowance shall be recognised in other comprehensive income and shall not reduce the carrying amount of the financial asset in the balance sheet.

d) De recognition of financial assets

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognized (i.e. removed from the Company's standalone balance sheet) when:

The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or

The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement; and either (i) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (ii) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a passthrough arrangement, it evaluates if and to what extent it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the Company continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of the Company's continuing involvement. In that case, the Company also recognizes an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the Company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the Company could be required to repay.

Financial liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

The Company's financial liabilities include trade and other payables, loans and borrowings.

Subsequent measurement

The measurement of financial liabilities depends on their classification, as described below:

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss. Financial liabilities are classified as held for trading if they are incurred for the purpose of repurchasing in the near term. This category also includes derivative financial instruments entered into by the Company that are not designated as hedging instruments in hedge relationships as defined by Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments.

Gains or losses on liabilities held for trading are recognised in the profit or loss.

Financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss are designated as such at the initial date of recognition, and only if the criteria in Ind AS 109 are satisfied. For liabilities designated as FVTPL, fair value gains/ losses attributable to changes in own credit risk are recognized in OCI. These gains/ loss are not subsequently transferred to P&L. However, the Company may transfer the cumulative gain or loss within equity. All other changes in fair value of such liability are recognised in the statement of profit or loss. The Company has not designated any financial liability as at fair value through profit and loss.

This is the category most relevant to the Company. After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the EIR method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortization process. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortization is included as finance costs in the statement of profit and loss.

De-recognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Equity instruments

Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issuance of new ordinary shares and share options and buyback of ordinary shares are recognised as a deduction from equity, net of any tax effects.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously

Fair value of financial instruments

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Company uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value include discounted cash flow analysis, available quoted market prices, and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result in general approximation of value, and such value may never actually be realized. For financial assets and liabilities maturing within one year from the Balance sheet date and which are not carried at fair value, the carrying amounts approximate fair value due to the short maturity of these instruments.

Impairment of financial assets

In accordance with Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments, the Company applies expected credit loss (ECL) model and specific identification method based on the credit risk for measurement and recognition of impairment loss for financial assets.

The Company tracks credit risk and changes thereon for each customer. For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Company determines that whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, 12-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss, except for trade receivables.

ECL is the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to the Company in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the entity expects to receive (i.e., all cash shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR. When estimating the cash flows, an entity is required to consider:

- All contractual terms of the financial instrument over the expected life of the financial instrument. However, in rare cases when the expected life of the financial instrument cannot be estimated reliably, then the entity uses the remaining contractual term of the financial instrument.
- Cash flows from the sale of collateral held or other credit enhancements that are integral to the contractual terms.

The Company uses default rate for credit risk to determine impairment loss allowance on portfolio of its trade receivables.

Trade receivables

The Company applies approach permitted by Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments, which requires expected lifetime losses to be recognised from initial recognition of receivables

Default is considered to exist when the counter party fails to make the contractual payment within 90 days of when they fall due which is on final sign off by the customer after acceptance is completed. A trade receivable is considered to be credit impaired when the management considers the amount to be non recoverable.

However Time barred dues from the government / government departments / government companies are generally not considered as increase in credit risk of such financial asset.

Other financial assets

For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Company determines whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition and if credit risk has increased significantly, impairment loss is provided.

The amount of expected credit losses (or reversal) that is required to adjust the loss allowance at the reporting date to the amount that is required to be recognized is recognized as an impairment gain or loss in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Impairment of non-financial assets

For impairment assessment purposes, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are largely independent cash inflows (cash-generating units). As a result, some assets are tested individually for impairment and some are tested at cash-generating unit level.

An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's (or cash-generating unit's) carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount, which is the higher of fair value less costs of disposal and value in-use. To determine the value-in-use, management estimates expected future cash flows from each cash generating unit and determines a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows. The data used for impairment testing procedures are directly linked to the Company's latest approved budget, adjusted as necessary to exclude the effects of future reorganisations and asset enhancements. Discount factors are determined individually for each cash generating unit and reflect current market assessments of the time value of money and asset specific risk factors.

All assets are subsequently reassessed for indications that an impairment loss previously recognised may no longer exist. An impairment loss is reversed if the asset's or cash generating unit's recoverable amount exceeds its carrying amount.

Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Company

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

Level 1: Level 1 hierarchy includes financial instruments measured using quoted prices. For example, listed equity instruments that have quoted market price.

Level 2: The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market (for example, traded bonds, over-the-counter derivatives) is determined using valuation techniques which maximise the use of observable market data and rely as little as possible on entity-specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in level 2.

Level 3: If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3. This is the case for unlisted equity securities, contingent consideration and indemnification asset included in level 3.

v) Principal actuarial assumptions used:

Particulars	As at 31 March 2025	As at 31 March 2024
Discount rate	6.82%	7.21%
Long-term rate of compensation increase	9.00%	8.00%
Attrition rate
a) For service 4 years and below	13.00%	13.00%
b) For service 5 years and above	3.00%	3.00%
Expected rate of return on plan assets	6.82%	7.21%

The Company assesses these assumptions with the projected long-term plans of growth and prevalent industry standards.

vi) The table below outlines the effect on the defined benefit obligation in the event of a decrease/increase of 1% in the rate of assumptions:

Particulars	As at 31 March 2025	As at 31 March 2024
Future salary increases
Increase	(1.46)	(1.05)
Decrease	1.40	1.04
Discount rate
Increase	2.29	1.60
Decrease	(2.83)	(1.95)
Attrition rate
Increase	0.01	0.20
Decrease	(0.02)	(0.23)

The sensitivity analysis presented above may not be representative of the actual change in the obligation, since the above analysis are based on change in an assumption while holding other assumptions constant. In practice, it is unlikely that the change in assumptions would occur in isolation of one another as some of the assumptions may be correlated.

vii) Risk exposure

The defined benefit plan exposes the Company to actuarial risks such as interest rate risk, investment risk, longevity risk and inflation risk.

Interest rate risk

The present value of the defined benefit liability is calculated using a discount rate determined by reference to market yields of G-sec securities. The estimated term of the bonds is consistent with the estimated term of the defined benefit obligation and it is denominated in Indian rupees. A decrease in market yield on G-sec securities will increase the Company's defined benefit liability, although it is expected that this would be offset partially by an increase in the fair value of certain of the plan assets.

Investment risk

The company maintains plan assets in the form of fund with Reliance Nippon Life Insurance Company Ltd. The fair value of the plan assets is exposed to the market risks (in India).

Notes to Ind AS Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2025

(All figures are in INR Crores unless specifically stated otherwise)

Longevity risk

The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated by reference to the best estimate of the mortality of plan participants during their employment. An increase in the life expectancy of the plan participants will increase the plan's liability.

Inflation risk

A significant proportion of the defined benefit liability is linked to inflation. An increase in the inflation rate will increase the Company's liability.

Particulars	As at 31 March 2025	As at 31 March 2024
Weighted average duration of DBO (in years)	15	13

b) Compensated absences

The Employees of the Company are entitled to compensated absence. Employees can carry forward a portion of the unutilized accrued compensated absence and utilize it in future periods or receive cash compensation at retirement or termination of employment for the unutilized accrued compensated absence as per Company policy. The Company records an obligation for compensated absences in the period in which employees render services that increase this entitlement. The Company measures the expected cost of compensated absence as the additional amount that the Company expects to pay as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the balance sheet date. The liability has been actuarially evaluated and accounted in the books.

The carrying amounts of trade receivables, cash and bank balances, financial assets, borrowings, trade payables and financial liabilities are considered to be approximately equal to the fair value.

b) Fair value measurement hierarchy

The Company records certain financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value on a recurring basis. The Company determines fair values based on the price it would receive to sell an asset or pay to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date and in the principal or most advantageous market for that asset or liability.

The Company holds certain financial assets which must be measured using the fair value hierarchy and related valuation methodologies. The guidance specifies a hierarchy of valuation techniques based on whether the inputs to each measurement are observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from independent sources, while unobservable inputs reflect the Company's assumptions about current market conditions. The fair value hierarchy also requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value.

Financial assets and financial liabilities measured at fair value in the balance sheet are grouped into three Levels of fair value hierarchy. These levels are based on the observability of significant inputs to the measurement, as follows:

Level 1: Level 1 hierarchy includes financial instruments measured using quoted prices. For example, listed equity instruments that have quoted market price.

Level 2: The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market (for example, traded bonds, over-the-counter derivatives) is determined using valuation techniques which maximise the use of observable market data and rely as little as possible on entity-specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in level 2.

Level 3: If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3. This is the case for unlisted equity securities, contingent consideration and indemnification asset included in level 3.

Assets and liabilities which are measured at FVTPL

Interest-bearing loans and borrowings
Floating rate borrowings	-	-
Fixed rate borrowings	-	-

The fair values of the Company's interest-bearing borrowings and loans are determined under amortised cost method using discount rate that reflects the issuer's borrowing rate as at the end of the reporting period. These rates are considered to reflect the market rate of interest and hence the carrying value are considered to be at fair value.

Cash and bank balances, trade receivables, other financial assets, borrowings, trade payables and other financial liabilities have fair values that approximate to their carrying amounts due to their short-term nature.

For the purpose of this disclosure, currency risk does not arise from financial instruments that are non-monetary items or from financial instruments denominated in the functional currency.

The following table illustrates the sensitivity of profit and equity in regards to the Company's financial assets and financial liabilities and the USD/Rs exchange rate, GBP/Rs exchange rate and CHF/Rs exchange rate, 'all other things being equal'. The Company continuously monitors defaults of customers and other counterparties, identified either individually or by the Company, and incorporates this information into its credit risk controls. The Company's policy is to transact only with counterparties who are highly creditworthy which are assessed based on internal due diligence parameters.

In respect of trade receivables, the Company is not exposed to any significant credit risk exposure to any single counterparty or any group of counterparties having similar characteristics (Also refer note 23) . Trade receivables consist of a large number of customers. Based on historical information about customer default rates management consider the credit quality of trade receivables that are not past due or impaired to be good, since most of its customers are either Government or Government departments or Companies under Government ownership.

The credit risk for cash and bank balances are considered negligible, since the counterparties are reputable banks with high quality external credit ratings.

Other financial assets, mainly comprises of rental deposits, security deposits and other receivables which are given to landlords or other governmental agencies in relation to contracts executed, are assessed by the Company for credit risk on a continuous basis.

e) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is that the Company might be unable to meet its obligations. The Company manages its liquidity needs by monitoring scheduled debt servicing payments for long-term financial liabilities as well as forecast cash inflows and outflows due in day-to-day business. The data used for analysing these cash flows is consistent with that used in the contractual maturity analysis below. Liquidity needs are monitored in various time bands, on a day-to-day and week-to-week basis, as well as on a monthly, quarterly, and yearly basis depending on the business needs. Net cash requirements are compared to available borrowing facilities in order to determine headroom or any shortfalls. This analysis shows that available borrowing facilities are expected to be sufficient over the lookout period.

The Company's objective is to maintain cash and bank's short term credit facilities to meet its liquidity requirements for 30-day periods at a minimum. This objective was met for the reporting periods. Funding for long-term liquidity needs is additionally secured by an adequate amount of committed credit facilities.

The Company considers expected cash flows from financial assets in assessing and managing liquidity risk, in particular its cash resources and trade receivables. Cash flows from trade receivables are all contractually due within twelve months except for retention and long term trade receivables which are governed by the relevant contract.

The Company's principal sources of liquidity are cash and cash equivalents, investment income, interest from deposits and the cash flow that is generated from operations. The Company has no outstanding bank borrowings. The Company believes that the working capital is sufficient to meet its current requirements. Accordingly, no liquidity risk is perceived.
